Great Dixter in the village of Northiam in E. Sussex was the family house of Christopher Lloyd who devoted his life to creating one of the most exciting experimental gardens of our time. Now Fergus Garrett, who was with Lloyd for many years, continues the legacy. He has started an innovative programme of no spraying whatsoever, making lots of new habitats for wildlife all combined with the wonderful long border, exotic garden, ponds, wildflower meadow all carpeted with flowers.

A tour of the house is included which will commence at 11 am; they may split us into 2 groups depending on numbers. Light lunches, sandwiches and salads will be for sale. You are welcome to take picnics.
